

God made the mountains

by Susan Reimer

God made the mountains.

God made the trees.

God loves you
and

God loves me.

God made the flowers.

God made the bees.

God loves you

and

God loves me.

God made the oceans.

God made the seas.

God bless you

and

God bless me.

A photograph of a mountain range with evergreen trees in the foreground. The mountains are shrouded in a light mist or fog, creating a soft, atmospheric effect. The trees are dark green and appear to be conifers.

God made the mountains.

God made the trees.

God loves you and

God loves me!

A close-up photograph of a field of wildflowers. The flowers are primarily yellow, with some purple ones scattered throughout. The green foliage is dense and vibrant.

God made the flowers.

God made the bees.

God loves you and

God loves me!

A photograph of a calm lake or reservoir. In the background, a large, dark mountain rises against a sky with some clouds. The foreground is filled with evergreen trees and some dry grass.

God made the oceans.

God made the seas.

God bless you and

God bless me!